BDFusion*pro*

Electronic sow feeding meets free access stalls

BDFusion*pro*

A comprehensive, easy solution for individual feeding of sows

The BDFusionpro* feeding system brings together free access stall environment and Electronic Sow Feeding. It provides an easy alternative to retrofitting conventional sow barns with stalls and converting them to simple group housing with controlled individual feeding. The system provides several feeding stations per barn allowing multiple sows to eat simultaneously. And you are flexible to increase the number of stations if you decide to change the size of the group.

Using our 510 Controller, all feeding stations are able to be managed from one single controller, which is conveniently placed inside the hallway or in an office. In addition, our smart BigFarmNet technology and mobile app allow you to control feedings and stations in the barn, while also monitoring and managing sows, feed, climate and all other farm data from anywhere at any time.

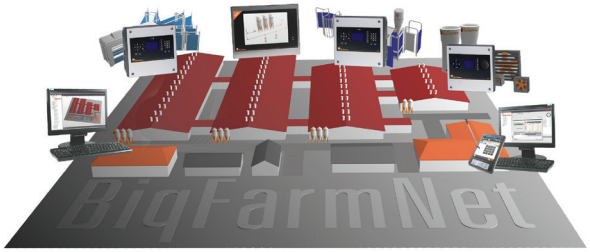

Features and Advantages

- Easily retrofit any conventional barns
- Simple solution for individual sow feeding in a protected area
- Free access stall design allows sows to quickly learn feeding technique
- 15-20 sows can share one station
- Only ONE central controller needed for ALL feeding stations
- Easy to use 510 Control with touch display – in any preferred location
- No controls exposed to the harsh barn environment
- Saves time for management
- Compatible with Big Dutchman's BigFarmNet software: Easy 24/7 monitoring and control by mobile app

BigFarmNet technology

BigFarmNet - farm management software

BigFarmNet is a state-of-the-art all-in-one software solution that allows farm managers to collect data continuously and to control and monitor all farm activity in real-time. The software digitally records data, provides answers and improves production. The best part is, it is accessible in the barn with a controller, on the office PC and wherever you are via the mobile app.
