Penduval®
Turkey Drinkers

Penduval® turkey drinkers supply turkeys of every age a sufficient amount of clean drinking water. All Penduval® drinkers include a nipple with pendulum and a cup that offers the birds open water.

At low water levels, the birds move the pendulum from side to side with their heads as they drink from the cup, triggering the nipple valve to open. Water then flows through the pendulum into the cup. When the birds stop drinking, the pendulum moves back to its original position, closing the valve and stopping the water flow.

If water remains in the cup, the birds are able to drink directly from the cup without activating the pendulum, which prevents the cup from overflowing. As is important for every drinker, the correct height adjustment is important for optimum water consumption.
